To create the best experience, we're constantly working to improve Instagram with new features and updates."

TIMESCALER is a function that allows you to change on the same time of 2 or more time zones. Time Calculator, used, is a tool that calculates all changes in time which can be very useful in personal and professional life. If you have to change cities or countries, it is very useful to get an accurate date and time of the time zone you are in. For example, you can use the function for the airline schedule. When you are in the plane, the right time zones, the time for arrival, departure and the total flight time should be calculated to you, so that you will know in the exact time of the plane arrival. TIMESCALER is a utility that allows you to get the data of the change of time for two countries or cities, so you can find the exact date and time in the corresponding time zone. You can use it to calculate the correct time of arrival at the airport by taking into account the possible changes in relation to the time zone that you are in. The software allows you to define the time on the selected cities or counties. You select two countries or cities that you want to compare and then get the time in both of them. This comparison can be from the same day, to the
