Incorrect work of the "BeeLine" modem may be caused by a number of reasons. With a high probability the problem will be solved after After all the necessary conditions for the modem to work are met, it must be installed in the computer port. To perform the installation, you only need to find the USB port in the laptop and remove the cover from the housing. Then the device should be inserted into the port. After this, the cover is closed. Next, you need to run the installation process. If everything is done correctly, it is likely that the operating system will boot. If this does not happen, then most likely the problem is a damaged driver. In this case you should reinstall the driver or connect the modem to another free port on your computer. Another reason for such behavior of the modem may be a failure of its internal components. To solve this problem you should take the modem to the service center. If the device works on other computers, the problem may be in the wrong driver. In this case you should try to reinstall the driver. It is also possible that the modem is not installed at all and that the computer simply has no driver for it. In this case you need to install it or update the drivers.
