Q: C++ How do I use templated function pointer and operator() First I want to avoid copying of class object. So I wrote a simple class.

#include <string>
#include <vector>
template class
add_t { T* _next; public: typedef T* iterator; typedef T* const*
operator()(T* p) { *_next = p; return *p; } }; typedef add_t add_c; int main() { std::vector v; for (int i = 0; i < v.size(); ++i) v[i] = T operator()
