AstrologyExplorer3D enables users to easily generate/analyze a wide range of astrological charts and reports for their everyday uses. It comes with a powerful 3D planetarium in which you can view a 360 degree rotation of the birth chart. Whether you are familiar with traditional forms or the latest types of chart, AstrologyExplorer3D will generate charts for you in a wide variety of formats with full accuracy. AstrologyExplorer3D supports three types of chart: classical formats, Sun Sign (Sun or Rahu) and Detailed Birth Chart. Since when we create a chart, we need to set the following parameters - Saturn, Rahu, Moon, Ascendant and the secondary, we can set any of the following parameters as we wish. - Ascendant: the area on the chart that is looked at first - Ascendant: the area on the chart that is looked at first - Dec. Moon Position: the area of the chart that is looked at last - Asc. Moon Position: the area of the chart that is looked at first - Moon Phase: indicates lunar phase. For example, a water sign moonphase indicates the date when the moon is in Water signs (Aquarius, Pisces and Taurus). - P.O: The positions of the Ascendant, Moon and Sun/Rahu positions. - Transits: Planet transits are optional to use in AstrologyExplorer3D. - Time Zone: Please note that AstrologyExplorer3D is using Solar time to calculate chart positions. You should not confuse Solar time with the actual time zone. - World: Chart Position of Earth around Sun. - Phase: planetary phase of Sun, Saturn, Rahu and Moon. - Seasons: planetary phase of Sun, Saturn, Rahu and Moon. Seasons are optional to use in AstrologyExplorer3D. - Horoscope :It is generated from ascending planet above the chart position. - Year: Earth's location in its orbit around the sun. - Calendar: AstrologyExplorer3D allows you to choose month names from Western/ Chinese/Japanese/Indian/Hindu. You can also select the dates of the days of a month from the widest range of options including leap year. In addition to the original chart formats, we also support the generation of astrological readings by creating a chart in the "Astrology Reading" format. In this format, you can see all the

What's New in the AstrologyExplorer3D?

Astrology Explorer 3D, a program by Marc Fontan, provides an easy-to-use user interface and powerful facilities. The program will dynamically produce the user's natal chart (the 12Zones and the twelve houses) as well as a complete panel of indicators (Rising, Setting, Moon Sign, Position, and aspects). There are powerful report generators for detailed detailed reports covering birth chart to daily horoscope. One of the most unique features is the ability to view a lifelike 3D planetarium scene, rotating the 5 planets around the user's 3D profile. This is an excellent way to work with the natal chart. Text and data labels can be added to any visualization window. Astrology Explorer 3D has a dynamic GUI, allowing the user to select any time period (kodiak, bahari, florida, etc.) and chart type (natal, annual). A variety of calendar and symbology options are available for the user. Astrology Explorer 3D is an intuitive yet powerful program for professionals and amateurs alike. In addition to the user manual, there are extensive online support resources available. With Astrology Explorer 3D, you will be able to put into practice every aspect of what you already know and love about astrological charts. Astrology Explorer 3D Login Screen If you were an Chart Year charts can have the 12 Zones charted or just the sign chart. You can do the whole chart or just the ascendant and 10th house. There is a default unit of measure of the Annual - this is designed to be the Julian Calendar which is based on the cycle of the sun. You can have anything you want in the unit of measure. This is another way to customize Astrology Explorer 3D to your specific needs and desire. Once you have chosen the unit of measure, you have a choice of years that may fit your needs. It is good to be aware that there is a choice of years to pick from. The choice is not endless, but there are over 100 years
