Yahoo Messenger Spy Monitor is a powerful Windows application designed to help you record Yahoo Messenger conversations and take screenshots with the webcam, based on user-defined parameters. In essence, this is a keylogger addressed to Yahoo Messenger users. The application is pretty easy to configure, yet it is strongly recommended to check every option carefully, so as to get the best results. Hide the app and input a passkey One of the best things about Yahoo! Messenger Spy Monitor is the so-called "Stealth Mode" which is actually a separate feature of the program that launches it at Windows Startup, hides the entry in the Add/Remove Program list and hides the program files. Plus, you can define a hotkey to call the program and a password to protect the software. E-mail logs or upload them to an FTP account Additionally, you can configure an e-mail account and automatically send mail messages with conversation logs to a user-defined address, while the tool also offers FTP support to upload the results to a certain server. A task scheduler is also available to start logging messages at a configured time, while reports can be compressed as ZIP or even deleted after they are sent to an e-mail or uploaded to an FTP server. Customize snapshot parameters and overall performance The capture screen utility lets you configure the interval to take new screenshots, image quality and the maximum amount of archived images in order to save space on the local disks. Yahoo Messenger Spy Monitor only works with newer Yahoo! Messenger versions and runs just fine on all Windows versions, without hampering the computer's performance, popping up error or hanging. Bottom line In conclusion, Yahoo Messenger Spy Monitor is a tool that does its job and provides you with a great amount of features. Plus, its "Stealth Mode" is very effective and keeps the program away from unauthorized access. Would you like to know how to go about getting access to a Yahoo account?
