SkypeAdBlocker is a small, yet reliable program which allows you to hide the adverts displayed in Skype's interface, while the application is running. SkypeAdBlocker can block the ad banners in Skype so you would not be distracted while communicating with friends or accidentally click on the links. Hide distracting ads in the interface of Skype. SkypeAdBlocker is a simple to use application which can hide all the ads in Skype, not just block their content. In other words, while the ad blocker is running, all commercial spaces are removed and replaced by the chat area. Unlike other similar programs, which only block the ad content, but still leave the designated space, SkypeAdBlocker can even hide the commercial banner area. This way, you can enjoy a larger space for displaying the messages or user information. It can easily remove the flashy, distracting content and allows you to enjoy your conversation. Control over Skype notifications. Skype notifies you of all actions that are performed while it is running, such as a user that goes online or offline, whether a friend sent you a message or if you have an incoming call. Certain of these notifications can be useful, but most of the times, if you leave Skype running while you work, the pop-up dialogs can be distracting. SkypeAdBlocker allows you to disable these notifications, whenever you choose, so that you can work without being bothered or quitting Skype. You may easily activate the notifications at any time. SkypeAdBlocker can run in the background, but you need to maximize its interface in order to make the changes. 1. Whether the streaming devices you use are home-based or portable, a quality antenna should be an important part of your enjoyment of streaming radio or TV. 2. Antenna range is the distance from your electronics to a television or radio station. The range is measured in miles, feet and yards. 3. Antenna gain is the strength of your signal. 4. The term "gain" refers to the ratio of the signal strength at the antenna to the signal strength at the device. High gain antennas require more reception, but less amplification of the signal. This
