Mrutyunjaya is the most famous book in Marathi literature on Karna. However, the storytelling style repels me for some reason. One day I noticed it. Mrutinjaya is the story of Matara and Kumar.

Matara is a dwarf, she is also a giantess. Matara is a dwarf, she is a giantess. Just like in Pushkin: "Tsar Saltan greets the ambassadors, / Gvidon puts him in a barrel, / puts him in the oven and quietly, / well done, who is this," so here.

Mrutinjaya is a love story between a dwarf who loves a giantess and a giantess who loves a dwarf. Matara and Kumar are a dwarf and a giantess. Kumar and Matara are a dwarf and a giantess. A love story between a dwarf and a giantess.
