4 Jan 2018 In order to enhance the efficiency and improve efficiency of the criminal justice system, design and implementation of information technology (IT) and automation of the criminal justice system have been accomplished in the country. As a result, it is observed that criminal case is taken up within a short period of time and brought to the time duration of the hearings or trials. So, the convicts are provided with legal assistance at different stages including getting prior information/consultation from experienced experts and the assistance to prevent charging or filing the case in a complaint section. These activities provide care for the criminals who need to be rehabilitated and face actions for violating the laws and by-laws. The website of these organizations has been opened since 2013 to provide criminal assistance to the citizens and to check the judicial systems of Pakistan.
