Home is the latest Assistant by Google. It's available on Google Home. Learn all about it here. Posted: Dec 1, 2017 | Author: Andy Griffiths | Filed under: Tips | Read 265 of 3,147 comments We've all been there. You're listening to a song on YouTube or Spotify, you're feeling the vibe, when you glance at the time, the song cuts off. The song has played out, but you can't exactly press a play button on a headset. So, what do you do? It's embarrassing. Especially if your headset is a smart one. Whether you want to skip ahead, pause or play the song at a specific spot, have Google Assistant give you a hand and let you do it easily. What you do is simple, so don't be surprised if it takes some time to master. But, let's get to the important stuff. 1. How to forward to a specific part of a song on Spotify Download Spotify from the Play Store Now, get Spotify and open it Go to the search bar and search for 'Skip ahead in music' Hit the search bar and enter the following: skip ahead in music on spotify The search bar should give you the following result: Hit the done button, tap the Spotify icon and search for the song you want to listen to 2. How to pause a song on Spotify

What's New in the WinQuickLook?

The best way to get your friend to clean out his or her closet is to pre-sell it to you. That's the origin of the saying "garage sale" and it's also the main idea behind the great Spring Cleaning app from WordPress.

At the same time, you can pick out some lovely items for your own closet - you can buy them at a discounted price.

Descriere: If you have an iPhone or iPad, you're in luck. iOS now has apps for almost everything. Unfortunately, there are also a lot of apps you might want to use on the Mac that don't have Mac versions. That's because the Mac has no native apps for some of the most common iOS apps.

Here's a list of 100 of the best Mac apps that don't have a

Mac version. Most Popular
